Projects

Convert Image To Pencil Sketch Using Python

The project "Convert Image to Sketch using Python" aims to develop a Python program that can take a regular image as input and generate its corresponding sketch-like representation. The outcome of the project will allow users to take any image and quickly transform it into a sketch-like representation, providing a visually appealing and artistic effect. This could be used for various applications, such as creating artwork, simulating hand-drawn sketches, or enhancing images for certain design purposes.
